

Jonathan Midget:

Christians Wondering What to Do: A History from Antiquity to Next Tuesday

This class explores the history of Christianity from the first century to the present. We will try to understand the perception of the Good News across different cultures over the last two millennia with attention to the motivations of the leaders who wrote the history and decided how to handle heresies. How have Christian leaders interpreted "discipleship" over the centuries and why? Which is the best way to follow Jesus and how do we know?

Goal:

To understand the Scriptural basis for historical patterns of discipleship that can help us decide what we should do, what we should expect from fellow believers, and how to follow Jesus every day.